Welcome to the Digital Library and Archive where you can browse our born digital archived content and view copies of past Met Office publications. The archive also includes digital copies of some of our unique and fascinating archive treasures. Digital preservation lies at the heart of this archive which means we are able to protect and preserve our digital content for the long-term just as we have been doing with our paper records for so many years. Our content is for your own private use. Please contact the library for any other terms of use or for further information.
